

Theodoros N. Kaifas received the Ph.D. degree from the Department of Physics, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki (AUTH), in 2004.

From 1993 to 2004, he was a Research Assistant, from 2004 to 2006 he was a Postdoctoral Research Fellow and since 2006, he has been a Senior Research Associate with the Radio Communications Laboratory (RCL), Department of Physics, AUTH. During 2001-2008, he was an Adjunct Professor with the Department of Electronics, Technological and Educational Institute of Thessaloniki, Greece, and during 2006-2007, with the Department of Technology Management, University of Macedonia, Greece. Also, since 2004 he has been an Adjunct Professor for the Program of Postgraduate Studies in Electronic Physics, (Radioelectrology), AUTH.

Dr. Kaifas has a broad knowledge and experience on Information Technology and Communications and an expertise on Wireless Communications, Satellite Communications, RF/Microwave Circuits, Antenna Analysis & Design, and Computational Methods in Electromagnetics accompanied by extensive contribution in relative literature and funded research projects.

Dr. Kaifas is a member of the Hellenic Physicist Union, the Hellenic Club of Electronic Physicists and the IEEE.